

Truman Calls South's Demos Third Party

Believes His Program Will Be Passed

Key West, Fla., March 18—(AP)—President Truman held out an olive branch today to a Congress in revolt against much of his program.

He referred to southern opponents as Dixiecrats and said they were not good Democrats, but even for this group he held out some hope. And, after deliberation, he professed the conviction his "fair deal" proposals will win final approval despite a series of reversals.

He put it this way: I think we are going to accomplish the program.

Not Happy Over Filibuster

Mr. Truman, meeting correspondents on the tree-shaded lawn of the winter White House on this cold morning, did not pretend he was happy about the filibuster. The House-passed "local option" rent control bill, or the tabling of Mon C. Wallgren's nomination as chairman of the National Security Resources Board.

But he isn't ready for an all-out fight yet. That much was made clear.

The president said his legislation was in the hands of a three-party congress. He identified the parties as Republican, Democrat and Dixiecrat. Asked if he thought Dixiecrats were not good Democrats, he didn't hesitate.

Of course, they are not, Mr. Truman asserted.

Progressive Party Dead

He was asked what happened to the Progressive party and replied that Bob LaFollette buried it. Mr. Truman did not mention the name of former Vice President Henry A. Wallace, who led a Progressive party during the last campaign.

He's going to talk over things with Vice President Barkley, Senate majority leader Lucas, Speaker Rayburn and House majority leader McCormack Monday. And he probably will confer with his cabinet that same day, he said.

Has he decided when he will board his old campaign train and carry his case to the people as he threatened to do in his Feb. 24 address to Washington's Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner?

No details have been worked out, he said, adding that the reporters would be notified in plenty of time to pack their bags.

"But are you planning to take the train trip?" he was pressed.

Mr. Truman said he wasn't making any statement at all, that there are no further plans than those announced on February 24.

Suspend Sentence Of Man Who Lied At Meyers' Trial

Washington, March 18—(AP)—Blieriot H. LaMarre, who first lied and then helped send Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers to jail, won't have to serve time for his perjury.

LaMarre, who spilled to Congress a tale of Meyers' secret ownership of a warplane after first shielding the officer, was placed on two years probation. This means he won't have to go to prison for his guilty pleas to three counts of perjury.

The 37-year-old accountant had admitted giving false testimony to a senate war investigating committee about Meyers' business affairs. The latter is now serving an 18-month to five-year prison term for having induced LaMarre to give the committee false testimony. Meyers will become eligible for parole Sept. 15.

The story that came out at Meyers' trial was that, as deputy wartime purchasing chief of the Air Forces, he operated on the quiet a warplane parts firm at Dayton, Ohio, reaping $150,000 profits from government contracts, with LaMarre as "dummy" president.

Senate Approves U.S. Radar Screen

Washington, March 18—(AP)—Creation of a sky-sweeping radar network as the basic element in the United States' defense against enemy planes was approved by the Senate today without debate.

The House previously had approved the measure so it now goes to President Truman for his expected signature.

Final cost of the U. S. network is estimated at $161,000,000. Starting expenditures will be held at $85,000,000.

100 PUPILS STRICKEN

Wilmington, O., March 18—(AP)—Almost 100 pupils of the Martinsville school near here became ill today after eating lunch. Three doctors had to be summoned. All of the children treated said they had eaten chicken sandwiches at the school cafeteria.

Brief Outline Of Text Of Atlantic Alliance

Washington, March 18—(AP)—A glance at the proposed North Atlantic treaty:

Sponsors: United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. Norway, Italy, Portugal, Denmark and Iceland are expected to come in later.

Announced purpose: "To safeguard the freedom, common heritage and civilization of their peoples, founded on the principles of Democracy, individual liberty and the rule of law."

The NUB: "An armed attack against one or more of them in Europe or North America shall be considered an attack against them all."

In case of such an attack, each of the nations agrees to assist the party attacked by taking "such action as it deems necessary," including the use of armed force.

Attack defined: It's an armed attack on the territory of any of the parties in Europe or North America.

Train Robber Sues B&O Because They Sold Him Liquor

Washington, March 18—(AP)—One of two young men charged with the holdup of a Baltimore & Ohio train filed a $50,000 damage suit against the railroad today. He said he was an "infant" and that the company was responsible for his conduct because it served him drinks.

George L. "Duke" Ashton, who said he was 20 years old, declared the train robbery was "solely due to the negligence of the railroad."

Ashton and Luman "Skip" Ramsdell, 22, also charged with the robbery, were arrested in Washington the day after the holdup. Ramsdell is in a hospital as the result of a bullet wound received in his capture.

Ashton's suit, filed by his attorney, John M. Webster, alleges that he was served several drinks on the B & O's Ambassador Limited on March 9, the day of the robbery.

Take Disciplinary Action At Cornell After Beer Party

Mount Vernon, Iowa, March 18—(AP)—Cornell College authorities today disclosed they had taken disciplinary action in connection with a student beer party and a separate incident in which a Coe College student's hair was clipped.

In the beer party incident, the college expelled one student, suspended two others, and gave 14 students "bad citizenship" warnings. The college also said it had suspended the social privileges of Delta Phi Rho fraternity for 18 months.

In the hair-clipping episode, one student was expelled and five others were suspended.

School authorities said the drinking party took place in a cabin on the banks of the Cedar river near Ivanhoe. Four Mount Vernon men—two of them from the school staff—interrupted the revelry. The cabin had been watched following reports of nocturnal extra curricular activities at the spot.

Names of the students involved were not disclosed.

TEDDY'S ORDERLY DIES

Dayton, O., March 18—(AP)—George Washabough, 70, who was a personal orderly of Col. Theodore Roosevelt in the Spanish-American war, died today at a Veterans Administration hospital.

Italian House Votes Two To One In Favor Of Pact

Rome, March 18—(AP)—The chamber of deputies, taut from long debate, voted two to one tonight in favor of Italy's adherence to the North Atlantic alliance and then broke into fist fighting.

Kindred leftist flames in the streets outside.

A swarm of leftist youths, perhaps numbering 1,000, paralyzed rush hour traffic in the nearby Piazza San Silvestro with a demonstration against the treaty. Foot police and jeep-borne riot squads broke it up.

The president of the chamber of deputies, Giovanni Gronchi, declared communists Gian Carlo Pajetta and Santo Filippo Neri Sammarco were among those responsible for starting the fight that "transformed the chamber into a circus arena and the deputies into longshoremen."

He said all responsible would be barred from the assembly for a period to be decided by the deputies.

Communist opponents of the pact took their defeat hard. Some even tried to hurl stenographers' chairs. Several deputies were knocked down.

Wabash Employees Will Meet Truman Fact-Finding Board

St. Louis, March 18—(AP)—An effort will be made Monday at a meeting here to settle a strike that has halted operation of the Wabash railroad for four days.

National officers of the four striking brotherhoods met in Cleveland, O. They instructed their vice presidents who are in St. Louis to meet with an emergency fact-finding board appointed by President Truman.

The first meeting of the three-member board is scheduled for 10 a.m. (CST) Monday.

"We are to do everything possible to try and end the strike," said John E. Donnelly, assistant grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

"In the meantime, if the Wabash wishes to speed up the settlement, we're available and will be available before Monday. The strike is still on until a satisfactory settlement is reached."

Until today, the brotherhoods had taken the position the fact-finding board should have been appointed before the strike was called Tuesday morning.

Recommends More Occupations Pay State Sales Tax

Springfield, Ill., March 18—(AP)—The Illinois Revenue Laws commission recommended today that scores of occupations now exempt from the state sales tax be required to pay a tax on gross receipts.

An estimated $25,000,000 a year in addition to present sales tax revenue of about $160,000,000 would be produced by the plan.

Generally, it would tax three classes—contractors, service occupations and repairmen—where tangible personal property changes hands. The rate would be the same as the two percent retailers occupational (sales) levy.

The commission said court rulings have been whittling down the sales tax by exempting a huge volume of tangible goods furnished as part of a service.

It mentioned decisions which held that neither material dealers who sell to construction contractors, nor the contractors themselves, are liable for the sales tax.

Identifies Doctor Who Performed Fatal Abortion

Chicago, March 18—(AP)—A circuit court today ordered officials of suburban Cicero to call an election determining whether the town shall become a city. Cicero's population in the 1940 census was 64,712.

Judge Harry M. Fisher issued the order, but stayed its execution for 30 days to allow time for an appeal to the state supreme court. The postponement is required by law.

The suit was brought by a citizens group headed by John C. Stoffel. Stoffel recently resigned as town president in a dispute over gambling. The community has been split widely over the incorporation issue.

It is the duty of the town board, the petition charged, to submit the incorporation question to the electors within 60 days after receiving a petition signed by one-fifth of the electorate. The proper petition was filed out the board failed to call the election, the suit contended.

Town officials were named defendants. Their attorney said he intended to file an appeal as soon as possible.

Sour Faced Nurse Bad For Patients

London, March 18—(AP)—Delegates at a mental health conference here were told today a nurse with an unpleasant face is a menace to her patients.

"A nurse's sour look may be as harmful as a septic (infected) finger," said the speaker, Dr. J. C. Spence.

"If she cannot overcome a sour look, it is better not to become a nurse."

To soothe tired eyes, lie down for 15 or 20 minutes with little pads of cotton saturated with good quality witch hazel.

Wallace Says Pact Violates U. N.

New York, March 18—(AP)—Henry Wallace said tonight the North Atlantic pact is a "willful, deliberate and complete violation" of this nation's pledge to uphold the United Nations.

He said the American people would "overwhelmingly reject" the pact if they had "a chance to review in public what has been decided in secret."

His statement added: "The formal words published today hide from view a whole series of the most dangerous and war-breeding commitments and consequences."

JOE E. BROWN OUT OF HOSPITAL

Philadelphia, March 18—(AP)—Joe E. Brown was discharged from the Philadelphia naval hospital today recovered from recurring malaria that struck him down three weeks ago.

WILL TRY 6000 FEET

Columbus, O., March 18—(AP)—Friends and relatives of Mrs. Doris Acosta, a Columbus housewife, were shopping for string today—for kite-flying.

Mrs. Acosta, 20, had 5,000 feet of string out today when it broke and her 10-cent kite disappeared. She bought another one, called for more string and will try for 6,000 feet.

Atlantic Powers Unveil Their Treaty Against Aggressors

Acheson States Policy Of Alliance

Washington, March 18—(AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said tonight that controls of Europe "by a single, aggressive unfriendly power" would be an "intolerable threat to the national security of the United States."

In a bluntly-worded address beamed throughout the world, Acheson made his first major policy statement on the proposed North Atlantic mutual-aid treaty.

The text of this accord, which would link this country's power and resources with those of Canada and western Europe for defense against aggression, was made public 12 hours earlier. As a treaty, it is subject to senate ratification.

It provides that if any one of the signatory countries is attacked, each will render such assistance "as it deems necessary, including the use of armed force."

Acheson branded as a "lie" Russian charges that the alliance is aggressive.

He said:

"This country is not planning to make war against anyone. It is not seeking war. It abhors war. It does not hold war to be inevitable."

Acheson said this country's policies, as expressed in the words of the Atlantic pact, "are devised with the specific aim of bridging the peaceful means the tremendous differences which beset international society at the present time."

As the secretary of state set forth the basic principles designed to guide this and other nations toward universal peace, the voice of America was beaming to Russia and other countries around the world these other developments:

1. The Italian chamber of deputies in a riotous session voted two to one for Italy's adherence to the Atlantic defense system. Communists did not hold war to be inevitable.

2. Members of the U. S. Senate generally expressed approval of the compact's aims, although some took exception to the provisions under which the United States might be called on to use its military forces in helping a member nation under attack.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) said his senate foreign relations committee will open hearings on the treaty just as soon as it is put up for consideration. He termed the accord an "instrument of great moral power" directed "only against aggression."

Leaders of the western European member states hailed the alliance as a great stride toward security on that war devastated continent.

Foreign Secretary Bevin of Great Britain accused communists of "creating a situation of fear" so that all Europe could be "brought into bondage." He said the Atlantic pact is the answer to this situation.

States Newspaper Editorial Page Is Gaining Popularity

Chicago, March 18—(AP)—Kenneth E. Olson, dean of Medill School of Journalism, today said the newspaper editorial page is gaining popularity after losing popularity.

Dean Olson told a clinic of news executives that the editorial, if on local problems, cleverly written and attractively displayed, is of more interest to readers than comics or columns.

He said continued studies of readership interest made at Northwestern University showed interest in editorial pages is doubling.

He added that criticism based upon failure of the press to influence the last four presidential campaigns has been justified. "For years," he said, "the editorial page has been shackled with outworn traditions of appearance and style which kept it from exerting the influence it should."

FREED IN ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING OF BROTHER

Chicago, March 18—(AP)—A youth who accidentally shot his half brother and then donated blood to him for a transfusion was freed today of a disorderly conduct charge.

Judge John T. Zuris of Stockyards Court dismissed the charge against Thomas Williams, 20. The Judge acted when he learned that the victim, Charles Walensky, 18, was responding to a transfusion given by Williams.

Walensky was shot as the two were cleaning their rifles March 10.

Asks U.S. Give Schools 300 Million Aid Yearly

Washington, March 18—(AP)—A Senate committee recommended today that the government grant $300,000,000 a year to help the states run schools and another $35,000,000 to check up on school children's health.

The twin bills were approved unanimously by the Senate Labor and Public Welfare committee.

Early senate action on both measures was in prospect, although the school aid bill is expected to run into some opposition in the house where a similar plan wound up in a committee-pigeonhole last year.

The education measure is designed to equalize school opportunities in the states.

The government would provide grants varying in amount, depending on the state's average annual income and the number of its school children. Thus the poorer states would receive more than the richer ones and each state would have to make up the difference to provide a minimum outlay of $55 a year for each pupil.

The committee bill leaves it up to the states.

Start Experiment Of Burning Coal Still In Ground

Gorgas, Ala., March 18—(AP)—A new experiment in the fire-mining of coal to produce commercial gases was started here today.

Engineers said the test, if successful, would revolutionize the coal mining industry.

Chief purpose of the experiment is to determine if coal can be burned where nature put it, thus eliminating the cost of mining, to produce heating gases and other fuels.

The test was started by the U. S. Bureau of Mines at the Gorgas mine of the Alabama Power company with the explosion of thermitic bombs—the so-called fire bombs of World War II—in a sealed, reinforced section.

Should the $500,000 experiment prove successful it would permit the use of millions of tons of coal throughout the country in thin seams which are too costly to exploit under present mining methods.

The engineers emphasized that the fire-mining was merely another experiment and one that would take months to work out.

Building Laborers In St. Louis To Go On 'Vacation' Soon

St. Louis, March 18—(AP)—A union representing about 7,000 building laborers in St. Louis gave notice today that the men will start a "vacation" next Tuesday. It would stop nearly all commercial building projects now in progress. There was no explanation. Home building would not be affected.

In a terse telephone call Owen L. Femmer, business representative of the AFL Building Laborers and Hod Carriers union, told the master builders association what to expect. He gave no indication as to how long the stoppage is to last.

PARDONED MAN MARRIES

Vancouver, Wash., March 18—(AP)—Clarence Boggie, 55, pardoned last Christmas Eve after serving 13 years in the Washington state prison on a murder conviction, was married here today. The bride was his childhood sweetheart, Mrs. Gertrude McKean, 50, Naches, Wash.

Reds Seek To Capitalize On German Nationalism

Berlin, March 18—(AP)—Communists attempted today to capitalize on German nationalist sentiment by proposing an all-German conference on problems of the divided nation.

The proposal, advanced at a meeting of the eastern German "People's Council," was accompanied by obvious nationalist hints. The communists called for open defiance of the western occupation powers, if necessary.

Western German political leaders indicated they will reject the feeble Eastern German communists clearly are attempting to undermine the western currency revision, the European aid program, the Ruhr control statute and the projected western German state.

Dr. Konrad Adenauer, president of the Bonn constituent assembly and a Christian Democrat, said he regarded the proposed conference "as without purpose and as being aimed to confuse the situation."

The eastern invitation said the creation of a west German state means a deadly danger to the national existence of the German people.

"A united Germany," it said, "makes possible the solution of all questions confronting the German people."

Expansionist Nation Would Be Attacked

Washington, March 18—(AP)—The Atlantic powers unveiled their security treaty today, disclosing a hair-trigger defense clause which automatically would set off American action to block any foreign conquest of western Europe.

The disclosure was the latest in a series of moves to put Soviet Russia on notice that it should expect quick United States retaliation if it seeks to expand into western Europe through the use of armed force.

Secretary of State Acheson said that under the "armed attack" clause the United States would be obligated to use its military power in resisting an attack on an allied nation—if in the "honest judgment" of this government armed force appeared necessary.

Covers Internal Aggression

Moreover, Acheson opened up a whole new range of possibilities by telling a news conference that he thought the "armed attack" clause might very well apply to revolutions resulting from communist internal aggression.

He also told questioning reporters that an attack on an American or other allied plane in the Berlin air lift over Russian territory certainly would be cause for action by the treaty powers.

The 1,000-word agreement, containing only 14 sharply written articles, was revealed here and abroad simultaneously at 10 a.m. CST.

It was the result of eight months of intensive negotiation during which many officials believe the last threads of what has been known as "American isolationism" gradually were torn from this nation's foreign policy.

U. S. Reaches Turning Point

Clearly Acheson and other state department officials feel that a historic and critical turning point in American relations with Europe has been reached. And there seems to be no lack of confidence that the administration's policies in this instance would be supported by the Senate when the treaty is submitted for ratification.

The document is to be signed in Washington about April 4 by the original Atlantic powers which started the treaty negotiations here last July 6. They are the United States, Canada, Britain, France, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. All seven nations must ratify the accord before it will become effective.

Other nations, however, have been invited in recent weeks to join the alliance. Among these are Norway, Denmark, Italy, Iceland and Portugal.

Radio Show Ruined By Mob At Opening Of Houston Hotel

Houston, Tex., March 18—(AP)—Mayor Oscar Holcombe today said the crowd that scrambled a radio program at the St. Patrick's day opening of the ultramodern Shamrock hotel was the "worst mob scene I've ever seen."

"It was ridiculous," the Mayor told a newsconference.

Last night the crowd completely upset Dorothy Lamour's nationwide (Sealtel) radio program.

Nearly half of the 30-minute National Broadcasting company show was off the air as over 1,000 guests were attempting to find their tables in the hotel's jam-packed emerald room.

The confusion led to Ad Libbing by Miss Lamour and her guest stars, Actor Van Heflin and Ed Gardner, the "Archie" of the Duffy's tavern radio program.

An orchestra finally came to the show's rescue. NBC officials said one or two diners had grabbed the microphone. The noise was so great the audience couldn't hear the show.

15 KILLED IN CRASH

Auckland, N. Z., Saturday, March 19—(AP)—Police said today 15 persons were killed in the crash of a New Zealand National Airways plane near Wellington yesterday.

Search parties recovered the bodies in the foothills of the Tararua range. The plane was within a few minutes of the Wellington airport when it crashed.

PUT AND TAKE

President Truman favors a bill to raise military pay. But he also thinks that the higher pay, including allowances, should be subject to income tax.

The proposed bill carries an average increase of 14 per cent ranging from 3 per cent for the sixth enlisted grade to nearly 50 per cent for generals and admirals. The President says the bill ought to contain a provision that no serviceman should suffer a pay cut. Without such a provision a lot of men would lose money on the increase-and-tax arrangement. For example, a single soldier making $960 a year would get a $28.80 increase and pay a tax of $48.

It doesn't look from here as if the average serviceman would get much benefit from putting a pay increase in his pocket and then taking it out again to pay to his employer, Uncle Sam. About the most tangible gain we can see for him is some experience in the delightful pastime of filling out the income tax form.

CRIPPS PROGRAM TO ADMINISTER MARSHALL PLAN FUNDS REJECTED

When Congress first considered the Marshall Plan, some members asked for a provision that would prohibit participating countries from using aid funds to nationalize their industries. Enemies of the Plan charged that this request meant that America would insist on a Europe-wide adoption of private capitalism as the price of assistance.

The charge was not true. No such strings were attached to the air program. But a few days ago a member of one of the participating governments tried to fasten some strings of his own. At the international Marshall Plan conference of cabinet members in Paris, Britain's Sir Stafford Cripps proposed a strict British-type program of internal economic controls in administering the funds.

He also insisted that the Marshall Plan countries agree to cut their dollar-zone imports by 10 per cent. But the other representatives, led by Foreign Minister Schuman of France, did not buy this austere socialistic bill of goods. Their reported reaction was that an extension of austerity was not advisable or necessary, and that reducing dollar imports was neither a complete solution of their problems nor a particularly gracious gesture toward America.

Great Britain has made a remarkable recovery, but so have some of the other Marshall Plan countries. And the sacrifice and effort involved in the British comeback scarcely recommend the Labor government's program as a magic formula.

It would appear from this distance that the Britishers' patience and co-operation in carrying out the Socialist government's economic theories had as much to do with recovery as the theories themselves. Yet Sir Stafford seems to give full credit to the theories alone.

The American people through their government, have sent billions to Europe to speed recovery. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has approved over $5,000,000,000 more for the next 15 months. Sir Stafford knows that this assistance involves considerable effort and sacrifice. Yet he urges Europe to increase this burden by cutting down on the return of American dollars by reducing imports.

This country's aid to Europe is no wholly unselfish. But it is real generosity—life-saving, freedom-saving generosity. Americans are not being unreasonable when they ask that their contribution be matched by vigorous and practical self-help in Europe.

It was not American capitalism but members of European governments well to the left of our own who turned down the Cripps plan. It is encouraging to learn that they favor a more general and more active co-operation instead of more planning.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Harelip May Be Corrected By Surgery

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Most scientists think that cleft lip with or without the cleft palate which extends the split into the bone of the roof of the mouth, is an hereditary defect. Certainly the defect, called "harelip," is present at birth. Whether it is caused entirely by defective inheritance or partly during the growth period before birth hasn't been decided yet.

Whatever the cause, a big cleft or split in the upper lip, extending back between the upper teeth and along the bones of the roof of the mouth is a serious thing. It changes the appearance of the person and also makes speech difficult. It affects the teeth and their function. The appearance alone sometimes causes an inferiority complex, although many people with harelip have entirely conquered any difficulty of this kind. What can and should be done for this condition, which in some cases seems to run in families? Its treatment is a highly specialized affair. Most specialists believe that it should be corrected by operation just as early in life as possible. Many studies on the best form of surgery have been made.

SURGERY VARIES
The first step in surgical treatment is to decide exactly what operation should be used and when it should be started. All of the operations involve bringing the bones together in a manner which brings about good function and is least likely to leave an unfortunate scar.

In treating cleft lip and palate, surgeons have shown great ingenuity. The looks, the teeth, and the speech are all improved by proper and timely treatment. The emotional outlook, education or choice of vocation also may need special attention.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

QUESTION: I have a slight bump on the skin of my leg about three inches above the ankle which feels like skin or muscle and which comes and goes. It is not painful.

ANSWER: This sounds like a cyst which fills with fluid and then empties. If it is at all possible, it would be well to show this to your doctor at the time when it is enlarged.

British Health System No Worker Of Miracles; It's Long Term Program

BY EDWIN SHANKE
London, March 18—(AP)—No one outside the general public expected a miracle to happen between July 4 and July 5 last year, when Britain launched its immense state medicine program.

The odds were heavily against it because, as the ministry of health pointed out, the country still was suffering from a prewar hangover of inadequate medical facilities and a shortage of doctors, nurses and dentists. The war aggravated that condition.

It will take years, therefore, before the scheme can be judged impartially as a whole.

When the state described the benefits of the new health program to the public, its leaflets cautioned the service would be available "as national resources allow."

Hospitals had difficulty meeting calls on their services even before the health system started functioning.

45,000 Nurses Lacking

The country was short of 45,000 nurses. London hospitals alone had 33,000 patients waiting for admission.

In some branches of medicine there were too few specialists. This in turn, affected the operation of the hospitals as well as the training of students.

One answer, of course, was to train more doctors. As the facilities expand and restrictions are overcome more doctors will be trained.

At present, there is roughly one doctor for every 2,000 Britons, a satisfactory situation except that the distribution is uneven.

Medical students numbered 11,500 in July 1948, 27 per cent or 2,875 of them women. This compares with 8,623 in 1938, of which 15 per cent were women.

Security For Young Doctors

Many educators believe that socialized medicine will prove a boom to the study of medicine.

"The state offers security to the young doctor," they say. "You can't practice medicine with financial worries."

Better wages and improved working hours and conditions also are attracting more full time hospital nurses and midwives. Health ministry figures show an increase from 115,500 nurses in England and Wales in June 1947, to more than 121,000 today.

Even the medical profession expects an improvement in Britain's hospital system, which it says was "in a mess" before the national health service started.

The hospitals now are state supported. Before, they were dependent in the main on endowments, private contributions and charity drives. The latter have been forbidden by the state.

More Funds For Research

By freeing the hospitals from everyday running operations, which were eating up endowment funds, the state released much of this money for medical research.

While state medicine does not touch specifically on research, the British Medical Association might eventually increase restrictions on individualism.

The state has made special provisions for the remuneration of specialists and to reward them for merit and superior skill.

As it stands now, full time and fully qualified specialists are to be paid in a range from $6,000 a year to $20,000 a year. These payments are in terms of 1929 values and are subject to a betterment allowance to reflect present conditions.

POP Goes the QUEEN

AGAINST a moldering bulkhead, far forward, was a row of squat chests. "There!" he ordered. "Hurry—open them up!" The four people moved cautiously toward the ironbound boxes. Barselou and John Henry wrestled with the first chest of the row, prying at the lid.

"Together," grunted Barselou. The two men panted in unison and forced it open. They stared into the black depths. John Henry lifted his head first and looked at the man in the pirate costume.

"False alarm," he said. "It's empty."

"Don't lie!" Trim rasped.

Trim bounded forward and drove the other two aside with the gun. A moment later, he raised a face that was pale and contorted with rage. Barselou still gazed at the opened chest as if hypnotized.

"Get back!" Trim commanded, panic in his words. His lower jaw hung open and his wet tongue moved back and forth over his ugly teeth. Sin and the two men backed up. Their captor's brown eyes flicked between them and the treasure chests as he went down the row kicking at the dusty iron-bound tops. Most of the lids flew back instantly, banging against the bulkhead. A red dust arose and sunbeams danced on flakes of rust.

At the last chest, Trim uttered a howl and dipped his free hand within it. He pulled out a fistful of round black objects like withered marbles and held them close to his face, staring uncomprehendingly. Then he pivoted and hurled the tiny wrinkled balls spitefully at Barselou.

"There's your fabulous riches!" he shrieked. "There's the Queen's jewels!" He capered around madly, his joints jerking as though marionette strings guided him. His high cracked voice screamed at Barselou until gasps of spent breath stopped the flow.

THE withered black globules lay patternless on the sandy timbers. Sin remembered something she'd read. Pearls, exposed to the elements over a long period of time, deteriorate and become valueless.

"I don't understand," Barselou said dully.

"Maybe you can understand this," Trim, panted, waving his arms. "Somebody beat you to the gold, the emeralds, all the treasure. Somebody maybe a century ago. Can you get that through your thick head? Somebody else found the galleon first! Anglin knew! Anglin was double-crossing us both!"

John Henry laughed. He couldn't restrain it even in the face of maniacal fury. Barselou's search, Trim's involved intrigue—all had been for nothing. Two men had died for a chest of worthless pearls. Anglin had known and he had profited most from the Queen. But Anglin hadn't been clever enough.

Sin laughed too. She tried to hold back the mirth. "It's another Spoonerism," she giggled, caught up in the frenzy that charged the air.

"What?" said John Henry.

"Spooner," she repeated, her shoulders shaking. "You know—the man who always got his words twisted."

"What about him?"

She giggled harder than ever. Her words trailed up hysterically. "Somebody asked him if he sang and Mr. Spooner said, 'I know only two tunes—God Save the Weasel and Pop Goes the Queen.' She just popped!"

And Sin went off into gales of laughter.

"Stop it! Stop it!" yelled Trim. He thrust his revolver almost in Sin's face. Her peal of laughter became a tangled sob. "Get over against the wall—all of you!" commanded the little man. Flecks of light were dancing oddly in his eyes. He hissed softly. "This is high tragedy. I will not accept the role of clown."

Sin and John Henry backed up silently. Barselou mechanically. "There. Right there," barked Trim as three backs touched the side of the galleon. The trio stood on a wide curb of wood that surrounded the entire deck—the gun platform. Behind them, the rectangular cannon ports revealed the rock face of the cliff, blind and gray.

SOMETHING hard bobbed against Sin's neck and she ducked. From a beam that ran the length of the ship's side, several rusty iron chains dangled. Each chain terminated in a wide iron cuff. The ship's irons, designed for lazy or mutinous seamen of His Majesty's Navy.

Trim was addressing Barselou. "Snap those chains around their wrists, if you please."

John Henry looked around desperately. Sin licked her trembling lips and asked, "What are you going to do, Mr. Trim? Please—"

"An old pirate custom, Mrs. Conover." A wrinkled hand pulled the cocked hat lower over spangled flickering eyes. "No prisoners. By the time you're found, you'll be indistinguishable from the other skeletons here."

"No—you can't!" Sin choked. She almost fell to her knees but John Henry held her to him.

The threatening pistol motioned at Barselou. The big man reached for the dangling chains. The muscles in his face were working now, but his eyeballs were transparent, far away, as though he were pondering some weighty problem.

Conover struggled but the expressionless gambler was inexorable. Machine-like, Barselou forced John Henry's wrists into the iron circles.

Sin submitted limply. The pair stood side by side on the gun platform, their wrists held at ear level by the ancient cuffs anchored to chains from the beam above.

Barselou wheeled slowly and said, "What next?" He looked at the man with the gun disinterestedly.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

A young couple from Sunnyside, Wash., narrowly escaped injury early Friday morning near this city when their 1940 Chevrolet coupe, pulling a new Prairie Schooner trailer, skidded and turned over. The accident occurred a short distance east of the Mauvaisterre creek bridge on U. S. Highway 36.

The driver, Sammy E. Bradford of Sunnyside, Wash., rural route 6, and his wife crawled through the door of the overturned coupe after Bradford kicked out one of the windows.

They had been to Elkhart, Ind., to purchase the new trailer, and were enroute home when the accident happened at 5:20 a. m. Bradford said the car struck an ice patch on the pavement, skidded, and the trailer began swaying. The trailer pulled loose from the coupe, ran off the highway, but did not turn over.

Lt. Stout and Patrolman Hill of the police department went to the aid of the Washington couple. Despite their close call they were not hurt, and came to the city to direct repairs on the car and trailer.

The Lukeman Motor Co. wrecker pulled the damaged car and trailer back on the pavement. The new trailer sustained only minor damage. The coupe was driven to the Brummett garage for repairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradford expected to continue their long journey after repairs on their car were completed.

Committee Fights Proposed Boost In Gasoline Tax

Carl J. Hodges of Springfield, public relations representative of the Illinois Highway Taxpayers Committee, was a visitor Thursday afternoon in this city. The organization Mr. Hodges represents is opposed to proposed increased taxes on gasoline, automobiles, trucks or buses.

He presented a number of business men with literature claiming that enough money is available for good roads without any increase in any highway taxes.

"A new five cent gasoline tax would be higher than that of any bordering state except Kentucky, and three cents higher than Missouri," Hodges stated. "Gasoline revenue would drop. Other business would suffer, too, because people who drive across the state line for gasoline will shop for other things while they're there."

The Illinois Taxpayers Committee has marshalled much statistical information to oppose further tax increases for highway purposes.

Durocher and Frisch Can Whip Giants to Flag, Says Galan; Fears Braves With Reiser

By Joe King
NEA Special Correspondent
Phoenix, Ariz. —(NEA)— Augie Galan, the old pro, believes the Giants have a chance to win the pennant.

That is why he is here. Galan points to two men as a potential flag urge to the Giants. They are Leo Durocher, who is never still until he wins, and Frank Frisch, who never sleeps when he doesn't win. Another of that breed is Freddy Fitzsimmons.

"Sometimes players will catch fire from men like Durocher and Frisch," Galan sums up. He didn't say they would catch hell if they didn't, but they will.

Augie also cites the race last year, in which the Giants carried a threat, among five clubs closely bunched, into September. He cannot see a team spinning out in front with any more decision than in '48 when the Braves were never sure until the final fortnight.

Galan will not go for the Dodgers, who are taking the pre-season bows, and no doubt the favorite role in the betting line forthcoming soon. He presents a reason for uncertainty about Brooklyn which surely was valid last year.

That is the lack of holdover old pros, who were so valuable in the past in the case of Cookie Lavagetto, Arky Vaughan and Galan.

He cannot be sure the proper seasoning is there, even though Rickey's "greatest squad" of youth is a year older and presumably wiser this spring.

Workouts Long Galan is much more fearful of the Braves, because he believes Pete Reiser, for several reasons, will respond to the change in scene.

Augie doesn't speak for himself, but he is of course the same type of player and person as Durocher and Frisch, always on ceaseless quest for the most runs today.

He will be a doughty pinch hitter, and a versatile bit player in infield or outfield, if needed.

How far such spirit will carry the Giants is, naturally, questionable.

The workouts are long, hard and truly spirited, and few leave the field before the spikes feel as if they are creeping up around the knees.

Frank Frisch... never sleeps when he doesn't win.

Durocher habitually brings a club into the season in good condition and he has stolen a lap several times because of that.

But right now doubt must be expressed for two players who have to come through to make Durocher look good.

Walker Cooper is having trouble with his knee, and Monte Kennedy, who must produce on the mound to mount a flag threat, is strictly a question mark.

There are about 2,000 different species of the frog and toad family of tailless amphibians.

How

higher standards lead to bigger opportunities in Army careers!

For qualified men there is greater opportunity in an Army career now than ever before. Increased selectivity now means more and better opportunities to come for those men who can make the grade on entrance requirements.

Did you know that in 1948, 191,910 civilians selected Army careers and that more than 75,000 soldiers re-enlisted last year? Here are some good reasons why:

1. Unlimited advancement. There's a premium on performance in the new career Army, a new system of rewards and promotions based on your initiative and ability.
2. World's greatest schooling system. Start fast in your chosen specialty. More than 200 courses to train men to experts' status.
3. World-wide pooling of top grade vacancies. Automatic advances in lower grades and wide open opportunities at the top. No "ruts" in the new career Army.

Can You Make the Grade in the U. S. Army?

If you can now is the time to sign up and be somebody among the best in the land. Have a talk with your local recruiting officer about what these higher standards are and how they can mean bigger and better opportunities for you in an Army career.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

Chicago, March 18.—(P)—Trading in hogs was 25 to 30 cents higher today but cattle and sheep were mostly steady. Receipts on sale were cut sharply below expectations of traders.

Receipts included 4,000 hogs for sale, 1,000 cattle, 200 calves, and 500 sheep.

New York Stock Market

New York, March 18.—(P)—The stock market wobbled a bit lower today.

Losses were small, though—most of them under a point—and a fair sprinkling of minor gains spotted the list.

Trading remained at a slow rate, or only 650,000 shares or so for the full session. Brokers claimed the down trend was simply the result of almost stagnant speculative interest.

Tending higher were American Distilling (well in front of most other issues), Gulf Oil, U. S. Gypsum, Dow Chemical, General Electric, Schenley, Caterpillar Tractor, Goodyear, and Laclede gas.

Lagging most of the time were Farnsworth Television (at the year's low), Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Ilver Corp., American Telephone, Westinghouse Electric, International Paper, Chesapeake & Ohio and Nickel Plate.

Corporate bonds, including rails, tended lower. U. S. government issues held firm in over-the-counter dealings.

GRAINS MOVE UPWARD; MAY WHEAT, CORN PACE ADVANCE

Chicago, March 18.—(P)—Grains moved steadily upward on the board of trade today, recovering all the ground lost in yesterday's market. The May wheat and corn deliveries up more than 2 cents at times, paced the market higher.

Elevator interests bought grain, and the advance was helped by a good deal of short covering. Firm prices for cash wheat at Kansas City, despite the fact receipts continued to run well above a year ago, imparted strength to futures here.

The Commodity Credit Corporation raised its bid for cash wheat in the southwest by a cent a bushel. Traders also noted the Senate agriculture committee had approved a bill to give the CCC the right to acquire or rent real estate for storing grain.

Soybeans and lard also were firm, although the march soybean delivery suffered several weak moments in a nervous trade. Lard was helped by expectations the army would be in the market for cash lard for export.

Receipts were: Wheat 9 cars, corn 122, oats 30 and soybeans 9. Wheat closed 1-2 1/2 higher, May $2.16 1/2, corn was 1-1 1/2 higher, May $1.28 1/2, oats were 1 to 1 1/2 higher, May 68 1/2, rye was 4 1/2 higher, May $1.26 1/2, soybeans were 3 1/2 cents higher, March $2.25-$2.26 1/2, and lard was 13 to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $12.00.

Rotarians Hear Rev. Marston Tell History Of Nauvoo

"Nauvoo, Illinois, contains more history than any city its size in the United States," Rev. Frank Marston told members of Rotary in a talk given during the regular club meeting Friday noon.

Rev. Marston lived in Nauvoo four years as principal of the high school and as minister of the Methodist church there. In his talk he reviewed the period when Joseph Smith and Brigham Young were in the community and following Smith's murder at Carthage, the coming of a group of French people who organized a communistic colony in the town. Following the French came a large group of Germans.

The speaker pointed out how the influences of religions and nationalities have made Nauvoo most interesting from the historical standpoint and recommended that the members visit the city. During the latter portion of his talk, Rev. Marston showed slides of the city and the surrounding area.

The speaker was introduced by Thomas Marber, program chairman.

TO THE VOTERS

of school No. 4. There will be an election at the Lynnville school, District 4 Sat. Mar. 19. Hours from 12-7 P.M. To decide whether or not the school buildings are to be sold. The Point school, Elm Grove, Timber Edge and Willow Branch.

EASTER SEALS HELP CRIPPLED CHILDREN

Physical Therapy Work Much Aided By Hubbard Tank

The welfare of crippled children has been advanced greatly here in the last few weeks.

A Hubbard tank has been installed at Washington school. It was purchased by the Jacksonville Rotary club and will be maintained by the school board. Large enough to accommodate a large adult, it is highly praised by medical specialists. Disease damaged muscles can be exercised in the warm buoying water. Special fixtures don't mean much though, unless there's somebody who knows how to operate them. That problem has been solved, too. Mrs. Elizabeth D. Brangham, a sister of Mrs. Ralph Robbins, 141 Webster street, responded to one of the many letters sent out by Dr. G. L. Drennan in his search for a trained physical therapist.

Mayor Hazelwood Friday urged the people of Jacksonville and Morgan county to cooperate in the 16th annual Easter Seal drive, which enabled the Morgan County association for the Crippled to continue its services to the handicapped.

"Easter Seals mean new life and hope to crippled children through the special services they provide, such as making possible the services of a registered physical therapist in Morgan county, transporting children to and from school, special education and vocational guidance. The society's work enhances our community's welfare," the mayor said.

Mrs. Brangham was born in Berlin, Germany, but left there shortly after Hitler's rise to dictatorship. She was trained in University College hospital and practiced physiotherapy in several of London's leading hospitals during the last 15 years.

Half of her salary comes from the revenue gained by the Morgan County Association for the Crippled. The balance is paid by the special educational fund allocated by the state.

Right now Mrs. Brangham isn't very busy. She is treating three children and one adult. Still another adult is coming for treatment of a badly fractured ankle.

"Mrs. Brangham has the time and ability to take care of many others," Miss Milligan said. "We're so happy she's here. We've needed her for a long time."

Mrs. Brangham uses almost every type of calcey on her small patients. They play games of push and pull, up and down, back and forth to exercise weakened muscles back to strength.

The Hubbard tank is recognized as one of the great aids to polio victims. It is said to be "about the only help" for severe cases of cerebral palsy.

Easter seals will not be sold through the schools this year. Solicitation will be by mail and through counter displays in Jacksonville stores.

The campaign will close Easter Sunday.

Fred Duewer, Waverly Farmer Dies In Hospital

Waverly — Fred Duewer, well known farmer residing north of Waverly, died Friday morning at Passavant hospital in Jacksonville.

Mr. Duewer, who was a life long resident of the Waverly vicinity, was born near Prentice March 19, 1870. He was the son of Henry and Anna Duewer. The family moved here shortly afterward.

He is survived by his wife Kate; one son, George of Waverly; one daughter, Mrs. John Kloppe of Jacksonville; and two grandsons, Harold and Marvin of Waverly. One son, Fred Jr., preceded him in death.

Funeral services are to be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Wiesse Funeral Home. Prof. M. J. Naumann of Concordia Seminary at Springfield will officiate.

The Alexandria, Virginia, Gazette, founded in 1784, claims to be the nation's oldest daily newspaper.

NOTICE VOTERS 14-10

Election Saturday at LaCrosse Lumber Co., Woodson, on question "Shall We Organize as a Fire Protection District?"

The Rotary club bought the Hubbard tank, an all important piece of equipment in physical therapy work, and the Jacksonville Board of Education installed it in Washington school. It is large enough to accommodate large adults. The buoyancy of water, plus the controlled temperature, permits exercise of weak muscles.

Photographed with the tank, are left to right, City Superintendent D. R. Blodgett, Mrs. Hugh Beggs of the school board, and Crit Haneline, chairman of Rotary's crippled children committee.

Little Johnny Gutmann has a lot of fun chasing bubbles as he tries to crawl in the water under the skilled, cheerful direction of Mrs. Elisabeth D. Brangham, who came to Jacksonville four weeks ago.

Johnny was stricken with polio last August. Inadequate facilities in Jacksonville forced his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Gutmann, 981 E. College avenue, to keep him in Springfield for six months. Now he's back home, making great improvement. The Hubbard tank and Mrs. Brangham are doing much to help happy and friendly 20-month-old Johnny.
